What is it about a song that touches you?
Do you feel musical language or hear emotions?
Does music communicate meaning to you that words cannot?

The world of art song is full of musical morsels through which we can experience immense joy and extreme heartache, peaceful landscapes and stormy seas, love and hate, lust and rejection. Each song is a journey of meaning and fraught with experiences of the human condition.

We seek to explore how these compositions wield such power of communication, and how the stories they tell enhance -- and at times surpass -- the words on which they are built.

RSVPs not necessary; no musical experience required to enjoy this event!
